

Real estate: houses, appartements, lots, farms

Last Updated Tuesday, 08 July 2008

Double your purchasing power living at ease in the sun and take advantage of investing in a dollar related real estate market where political and economical stability are causing a fast growing and booming real estate market.

Some tricks and tips

The purchase of a property is an excellent investment in Costa Rica.

The security is an important factor that should be taken into consideration whan buying real estate.

Take advantage of a country that is in full development and gain a remarcable return on your investment.

Take into consideration also the property taxes that are based on the registered value and compare the monthly maintenance fees of the condos or houses located in gated communities. Those maintenance fees can vary consitently due the different common areas and security.

The real estate transactions are in american dollars or in the local currency the Colon. One American Dollar is about 520 Colones and one British Pound is about 1020 Colones.

>>> Take advantage of the actual value of the British pound and invest in a dollar related real estate market with promising return on investment.

Surround yourself with professional people in order to make the right investment in Costa Rica. Contact us and we assist through your buying process.